

Goal for the girls!

It may be 43 years since England beat Germany at Wembley, but England's women's team came close to restoring our nation's pride in September's Euro 2009 final. England eventually lost against Germany 2 - 6, but reaching their first final in 25 years is probably an achievement the men's side would hope to emulate.

For any local budding stars, there is lots of opportunity to get involved - and maybe one day represent your country at Wembley. Now in its 7th season Golborne Athletic Ladies and Girls Football Club (formerly Golborne Girls) is at the centre of the development of girl's football in our community and has recently achieved 'Charter Club Standard' with the F.A.

With a dedicated team of coaches to suit new and experienced individuals, the club offers training to girls aged 6 and up. Based at Golborne Sports and Social Club, junior training sessions are on Tuesdays and Thursdays 6.00pm to 7.00pm while open age training is on Wednesdays 7.45pm to 9.30pm.
